THE conditions of the agreement concluded between the Eastern Extension, Australasia. and China Telegraph Company and Her | Rocks, and Kowloon Rock; 11 miles. Majesty's Secretary of State for the Colonies are very fair and equitable. It is only reameans in time of war, the Company should ing the condition of the cable, for it would after him. then, of course, run the risk of being cut, malgre the fact of its shore ends only touching Britisti territory. It is also only reasonable that all messages despatched on the service either of the Imperial Government or on those of the Governments of the Straits Settlements and Hongkong should be sent at a reduction over the lines of the Company, and the concession made, of one half the rate, is a liberal one on the part of the Company. For such a concession its repairing steamers may well be exempted from payment of port and light dues in Singapore, Labuan, and Houghong. Article 4 is more generally important and interesting than the foregoing, inasmuch as it concedes the practical monopoly to the Eastern Extension Telegraph Company of the telegraphic communication between the Straits Settlements and Hongkong. This concession is, however, made subject to conditions which. will effectually prevent it becoming a burden; or clog on the colonies mentioned, for Her. Majesty's Government reserves the right, by twelve months' notice, by purchasing the bable that at some future day the Imperial day the Imperial Government may find it desirable or both the desirable or both the incomplete of the English Minister sorts in the expedition to Korea, and was present at the siege of Paris and served district or Lappe and from where the colory will that, at district or Lappe and from where the colory will the parade, was held guit that, at district or Lappe and from where the colory will that, at district or Lappe and from where the colory will that, at district or Lappe and from where the colory will that the colory will the repetition to Korea, and was present at the siege of Paris and served districts for Lappe and from where the parade, was held guit that, at district or Lappe and from where the colory will that, at district or Lappe and from where the colory will that, at district or Lappe and from where the colory will that, at district or Lappe and from where the colory will that, at district or Lappe and from where the colory will that, at district or Lappe and from where the colory will that, at district or Lappe and from where the colory will that, at district or Lappe and from where the colory will that, at district or Lappe and from where the colory will that, at district or Lappe and from where the colory will that, at district or Lappe and from where the colory will that, at district or Lappe and from where the colory will that, at district or Lappe and from where the colory will that, at district or Lappe and from where the colory will that, at district or Lappe and from where the colory will that, at district or Lappe and from where the colory will that, at district or Lappe and from where the colory where the colory

importance. It was possibly with some such prevision or idea that this clause was inserted, or with an eye to the desirability of obtaining control of the cables in the event portance that telegraphic communication posts of the Empire in time of war, and it is partly in consequence of this feeling that the line to Singapore is about to be duplicated. The British Government have only sity of rivetting closer the links which bind the scattered empire of Queen VICTORIA, and of making effective provision for the adequate defence of the conling stations. The latter were ten years ago without fortifications worthy of the name, and the garrisons were in all cases wholly insufficient for defence against invasion. Now they are all more or less securely fortified, and the that of this colony baying been The provision of a duplicate cable ner Albert Bendell, to the Rattler.

It is most unlikely that both of these sources of communication would ever be broken at one time, and, so far as telegraphy is concerned, the British Empire would be independent, in case of need, of any foreign when the Trans-Siberian Railway is completed cable, more especially when, as is conteinplated, Canada and the Australian colonies are brought into direct cable communication. It the cable is to be laid from Canada to Hongkong un time should be lost in pushing on the enterprise innsmuch as a line to Japan from the United States is even now under consideration, and if that be laid first there would be little prospect of the Cana-
